My dear Madam,

Accept my thanks for the valuable Anti-Slavery publications with which you have presented me. I will do what I can to make the copies of "Ten Years' Experience," which have just reached me, useful; & also the last Report of the Massachusetts Society, which contains information on many points which wer were anxious to obtain. My copy of the Report is now in London, an Uncle of mine who is connected with the Evangelical party in the Church having borrowed it to send an Abstract to the Record Newspaper which is the paper in most extensive circulation amongst them; so I hope fresh interest will be awakened in your cause in new quarters. We shall be particularly glad to see the little sketch of its history & position with which you promise to furnish Mr James; something of the kind is much wanted here. My Father purposes printing a brief statement, when he has obtained the requisite information, in order to shew those who have paid no attention to the subject & who have not time or inclination to collect the accounts from the various reports in which they are scattered. We shall await with anxiety the intelligence of the effect produced in the North, by the final passing of the resolution respecting the Annexation of Texas. Perhaps it may bring to light new friends of Abolition who have hitherto kept aloof, & be the commencement of a more earnest struggle for freedom. At all events we may trust that it will eventually be overruled for good, tho' the immediate prospects are gloomy enough.

We were very glad to hear that the Bristol contributions sold well, & hope another year will not prove less successful.

Believe me, dear Madam, with every kind wish for the advancement of the principles you are laboring so assiduously to diffuse, & for abundant success to attend your efforts

Yours sincerely
Mary A. Estlin.

Mrs Chapman. Boston.
